elegance and a breath of fresh air."

Legacy in every thread

The millennial bride requires transitional design elements rather than just structured silhouettes in her ensembles. Volume adds a rather fluid energy to these structures. Think powerful forms that have been reworked into exaggerated drapes along with unconventional styles.

BRIDE'S CHECKLIST ● ● ● ● ● ● ● ● ● ●

What should be on the modern bride's checklist?
 Flattering modern silhouettes in traditional textiles looks stunning and apart from red and pink, fresh hues of green, blue and ivory are a must try.

What are the bridal myths we would like to bust?
 As times evolve, your bridal colour palette isn't restricted to just traditional fail-safe options; allow your imagination to run wild and free. The quickest way to reinvent is to empty a unique colour combination. When you think of Indian bridalwear, the first thing that comes to mind is a red ensemble, but that isn't your only choice. Brides can experiment with unconventional hues such as pastels, turquoise, mauve, blue, ivory and green.

These pieces are modern heirloom. How do we preserve them for next generations?
 The clock starts ticking on the longevity of your bridal threads immediately after the wedding. After the ceremony, it is of utmost importance to have your bridal outfit thoroughly dry-cleaned. Then wrap it in a piece of unbleached cotton cloth or muslin and preferably store the garments in a box made from acid-free materials.

How can a bride style distinct looks for different wedding events?
Engagement: Begin the festivities with a voluminous anarkali and an emante dupatta to make heads turn.
Mehendi: Tulle skirts paired with a wrap top or layered with a jacket are an ideal option, given the liveliness of this ceremony.
Sangeet: Shine under the spotlight in a bright-hued lehenga skirt paired with an embellished crop top.
Cocktail: Look to an elegantly embroidered ensemble to help you look effortlessly chic.
Wedding: A gorgeous lehenga set with intricate work details is an excellent candidate.
Reception: Wind up your nuptials in an ethnic, Indian-styled bride ensemble, over the world. And as awareness and education around ethical and sustainable fashion continues to increase.

How should the bride dress for a...

Beach wedding: Think lightweight, breezy Indian outfits or long jackets paired with bohemian maxi skirts. Don't forget to swap your stilettos for embroidered flat footwear.

City wedding: Opt for a minimal ethnic aesthetic with lightweight lehengas paired with crop tops and embroidered dupattas or layer with a jacket that won't weigh you down.

Intimate wedding: This setting calls for comfort; a light, embroidered lehenga would be an ideal pick.

Cruise wedding: You can opt for an embroidered ensemble in light pastel tones, accessorised with floral jewellery—the right mix of modern and traditional.

Outdoor wedding: You'll find a winner in lightweight lehengas with floral and botanical motifs in muted tones of blush, sage, powder blue, yellow and pristine white.

Traditional wedding: Opt for easy elegance with red choli that can be paired with a finely embroidered lehenga and styled with a red net dupatta.

When that whirlwind romance finally comes along and sweeps you off your feet, you're going to want to be dressed impeccably for it. Love At First Sight by this holds the perfect pieces for when you find your perfect match.

*"The lehenga will always be the first choice for a bride.
 The silhouette has been synonymous to being married."*

MAGICAL

A E S T H E T I C S

Like the first rays of summer caught in a bloom. Bright, soft, rich and touched with silver dust.
The ocean blue ensemble from this invokes the image of a sun-kissed bride walking down the sandy aisle on a virgin beach. Radiant, lively and resplendent - perfect for the destination wedding of a lifetime.

We love this ensemble because it perfectly brings out the fusion of old world aesthetic and modern sophistication that makes this outfit so unique. The lehenga and blouse are monochrome, while the woven silver threads adds just the right hint of glamour. Paired with a soft net dupatta embellished with silver motifs and border, it's the perfect marriage of elegance and comfort.
